- 1) Chatting apps are a vital part of our lives, with more than one app being residents in our computing devices. Chat apps are compiled of simple features easy to mimic by React beginners to take inspiration and implement. A few additions, such as emoticons, can be used in your React-based project from features such as delivery report and active status.

Use Next.js or Create React App to structure your project and include npm package emoji mart for emoticon reactions. Then, locate the app on the web using Firebase tools.
